Floyd D. Granger Appointed County Veterans' Officer

Floyd D. Granger, Redwood City councilman and former mayor, received the appointment as county veterans' service officer at a meeting of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors Tuesday afternoon.

Granger's nomination, made by Supervisor Thomas L. Hickey, was unanimously confirmed by the board after the supervisors had decided upon the appointment in a pre-meeting caucus.

Active in veterans' activities since his discharge from the army following World War I, Granger was one of the organizers of American Legion Post 105, served as president of the United Veterans' Council of Redwood City, and is a past district officer.

Granger served as mayor of Redwood City from May, 1942, to April, 1944, and was deputy county recorder for five years.

He resides at 827 Brewster Ave. with his wife and daughter, Beverly. Another daughter, Jernice, is married to Lt. Russell Gibbons, now on overseas duty.

At the meeting yesterday, held after the board sat as a board of equalization, supervisors adopted an ordinance setting a $1200 yearly license fee, payable quarterly, for fortune tellers, astrologers and others in unincorporated areas of the county.

Supervisors also approved an agreement with the state and federal governments in the care of war dependents under the civilian war dependents assistance program.

An ordinance fixing the mileage rates for employes using their own cars at eights cents a mile was adopted by the board.

Sixteen planning commission claims were returned to County Executive Frederick Peterson who has refused to approve the claims without the planning commission chairman's signature. Peterson declared he would not accept the signature of Frank Skillman, commission secretary, although the supervisors have authorized Skillman to sign for the chairman.

New Stoves Destroyed By Flames

Flames destroyed three new kitchen stoves, damaged a truck and set three grass fires on Bayshore Hwy., Tuesday, before the driver became aware of the blaze on his truck and summoned Redwood City firemen.

The driver, identity unknown, halted his truck at Middlefield Rd. and firemen extinguished the burning blankets in which the stoves were wrapped.

City firemen also extinguished two roadside grass fires that had been started by sparks from the truck, and men from the San Mateo County Forest Service arrived to extinguish a similar fire outside the north city limits.

The stoves, which belonged to the Sterling Furniture Co., were total losses, while the truck was badly damaged by the flames, firemen said.

The call was one of five received by the Redwood City firemen Tuesday.

At 2:30 p.m., a grass fire at Woodrow Ave. and Oak Dr. destroyed fences and damaged a shed while burning over an acre of land.

Quick work by firemen prevented a nearby home from damage by the flames.

A small grass fire on the Sequoia High School grounds was extinguished at 1:36 p.m.

Firemen repsonded to 408 Redwood Ave. at 10:41 p.m. where a gas stove caught on fire. Flames were extinguished upon arrival of the firemen.

When Tiberius Gracchus, a Roman aristocrat, proposed to the Senate a distribution of state land among the poor the Senate had him assassinated.

Two Face Gambling Charges

Gambling charges were filed against two South San Mateo County men Monday as the 1945-46 grand jury was slated to be impanelled and instructed to investigate gambling.

Joseph (Sugar Joe) Brandon, 45, restaurant owner, and Neil (Mannie) Schwartz, 43, salesman, were taken into custody by four deputy sheriffs Sunday at 1:15 a.m. during a raid on Brandon's East Palo Alto restaurant.

Brandon was charged with operating the establishment and with being the game keeper, while Schwartz was charged with being a game keeper. The charges are misdemeanors.

Both men were released on $500 cash bail yesterday, and are scheduled for arraignment Friday.

Approximately 25 men and women were in the rear room of the restaurant when deputies entered, Chief Dep. Sheriff Walter Moore said.

None of the customers was detained by the deputies who confiscated $716 in cash, a crap table and seven pairs of dice.

Deputies taking part in the raid were Ben Silverstein, Gene Allbee, Nick Zonpolis and William Schade.

Judge A. R. Cotton, who began impanelling of the grand jury Monday at 3 p.m., has indicated he would instruct the 18 persons chosen for jury duty to investigate widespread reports of gambling in the county.

Milk Spills, Drivers Shed No Tears

A milk-drenched intersection in San Carlos Sunday marked the scene of a collision between a fully-laden milk truck driven by Patrick Finan of Palo Alto and a car driven by Elmer Mitchell of Redwood City.

San Carlos police, who investigated the accident at Eaton Ave. and El Camino Real at 8:15 a.m., reported no injuries suffered by the drivers although Mitchell's car was extensively damaged when it struck the side of the milk truck. Neither Finan, who resides at 432 Hawthorne Ave., nor Mitchell whose address is 415 Hopkins Ave., shed tears over the spilled milk, police said.

County Traffic Toll Doubles 1944 Figure

SAN CARLOS — Ten-year-old James G. Allen, son of a San Carlos building contractor, died enroute to a hospital Monday after being struck by an automobile while delivering newspapers in San Carlos at 5:42 p.m.

Young Allen was riding his bicycle in the slow northbound lane on El Camino Real between Brittan Ave. and Morse Blvd., when he apparently turned into the path of a car in the next lane, San Carlos police officers said.

Edwin Savelson, 18, of 1536 Meadow Ln., Burlingame, was driver of the vehicle. He was not held.

The boy's death, attributed by Dep. Coroner Lewis Franklin to a basal fracture of the skull, brings the total number of traffic fatalities in San Mateo County to 34 since the first of the year. It was the third in three days.

A student at Central School, young Allen was rushed to Mills Memorial Hospital where he arrived 20 minutes after the accident occurred, but was pronounced dead upon arrival.

The boy, son of James and Millie Allen of 1012 Elm St., was the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. George Lagomarsino of San Carlos and Harry I. Allen of San Francisco.

He was the brother of Harry R., George J. and Jeannette Marie Allen.

He was a member of Cubs Den 1, Pack 54, Boy Scouts of America, and the Altar Boy Society of St. Charles Catholic Church.

Requiem mass will be celebrated at St. Charles Church Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock, following funeral services at the home. Interment will follow at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

The rosary will be recited at the family home tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Franklin & Crowe Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

Thirty-two persons lost their lives in traffic fatalities during the first six months of this year, compared to 15 lives lost during a comparable period in 1944.

Friendly Acres Couple Sues for $25,000

Council Grants Temporary Dance Permits to Night Clubs

Culminating months of argument about the holding of dances on premises where liquor is sold in Redwood City, the city council Monday night agreed to grant temporary dance permits to the three night clubs applying and to Foresters Hall until Aug. 6.

By Aug. 6, the first regular meeting of the council next month, the establishments must prove to Bldg. Insp. L. M. Duncan's satisfaction that they comply with the city ordinance which states that dancing must be held in a room or enclosure apart from the place where liquor is sold.

Councilmen agreed that Foresters Hall complies in every way with the ordinance, but were uncertain about the degree of compliance of the Scamus Club, Deacon Club and Woodside Club.

Atty. James J. O'Keefe, Jr., appeared before the council, representing the Scamus and Woodside Clubs and Atty. Wayne Millington represented the Deacon Club. They both argued that the clubs did have enclosures as meant in the ordinance.

"You must consider what was in the minds of the council which drew up the ordinance," Councilman C. C. Armstrong stated. "What their intention was in passing this ordinance is what we have to consider now."

"Do these night clubs reasonably comply with the ordinance?" Armstrong asked.

"No, none of them do, but they can," Councilman Harold F. Anderson replied.

Voting on the temporary granting of permits was unanimous and followed an hour and 15 minutes of discussion.

Council Deadlocks On Salaries

City councilmen deadlocked Monday on the introduction of the 1945-46 salary ordinance raising city employes' salaries 10 per cent, although approving the fiscal year war bonus ordinance, as Councilman Evans A. Fletcher was again absent from the meeting.

Following a move for introduction of the salary ordinance by Councilman Harold F. Anderson and seconded by Councilman C. C. Armstrong, Councilman Floyd D. Granger read a detailed statement giving his opposition to the salary increase for City Mgr. Robert W. Mead.

"Again I wish to call your attention to just a few of the reasons to convince you that your city manager does not qualify as a $7200 a year executive," Granger began.

"In January and May of 1937, the state legislature ratified an amendment known as Section 26 of the Redwood City charter which reads in part: 'Residence shall not be a qualification for his appointment, but promptly thereafter he shall become and thereafter remain an actual resident of the city.'

The statement continues: "To further support my opposition for this raise in salary, I refer you to the annual 1944 report of the auditor. As one example, the general funds show an over expenditure of $11,387.20. Would you call this good management?"

"I have also called your attention to the contract with the Union Paving Co. for the streets around the courthouse and the unauthorized expenditure of public funds to complete the project," Granger charged.

"During my term as mayor and as commander of civilian defense, we had an auxiliary fire and water system to meet an emergency, and without advising the war council or the city council, the city manager took it upon himself to dispose of the city property connected with the civilian defense system," Granger stated.

"I want it definitely understood that I am 100 per cent in favor of passing an ordinance to give the employes their raises leaving the city manager's salary up to a full council," Granger concluded.

"It looks like I'm picking on someone unless I make this statement," Granger said. "Would you step aside and let the empioyes get their raises," Granger asked Mead.

"That's an unfair question and you asked me that before in the caucus meeting," Mead answered. "The matter is up to the council. If three think I should get a raise and three don't, then it's not up to me to decide. I have not approached any councilman on this salary matter," Mead added.

On the roll call Anderson, Armstrong and Councilman Carl Britscagi voted in favor of the ordinance and Granger, Mayor W. W. Hilton and Councilman George McNulty voted no.

Anderson then moved that the war bonus be introduced.

After a brief debate, roll call on the measure was unanimous.

Cotton Tells Grand Jury To Investigate Gambling

Seventeen men and two women impanelled to the 1945-46 grand jury Monday were instructed to investigate "rumors" and "press articles" concerning county officials, gambling and other matters by Judge A. R. Cotton.

Grand jurors approved $2000 yearly wage increases for San Mateo County's two superior judges yesterday afternoon as their first item of business. The grand jury approval is expected to be followed by Gov. Earl Warren's signature on a legislature bill which would boost salaries of Judge Maxwell McNutt and Judge Cotton from $8500 to $10,500 a year.

Judge Cotton, who appointed Glen O. Smallcomb, Burlingame automobile dealer, foreman of the grand jury, quoted extensively from the penal and government codes in his 30-pages of instructions to the grand jurors.

Declaring "the prevention of crime, rather than the punishment should be uppermost in the public mind," Judge Cottop emphasized provisions relating to criminal conspiracy — a charge that could bring misdemeanor gambling charges into superior court.

The grand jury, as an arm of the superior court, has the authority to investigate the conduct of officials who do not enforce misdemeanor sections of the penal code, Judge Cotton pointed out.

Upon concluding his instructions, Judge Cotton introduced Dist. Atty. Gilbert D. Ferrell and Chief Dep. Dist. Atty. A. S. Whitmore to the jurors.

The new grand jurors held their first meeting later in the afternoon.

Named to the new panel were Mrs. Zella A. Hyman and Joseph T. McClellan, Redwood City; J. Henry Stubbe, East Palo Alto; Howard Stafford, North Palo Alto; Albert F. Knorp, San Carlos; Harry C. Welch, Belmont; Frank Lodato, Frank H. Boring and J. Howard Walzer, San Mateo; Smallcomb, Hillsborough; C. H. Whitney, Allen F. Hunt, Clyde S. Manwell, Mrs. Madeline E. Saeger and Theodore A. Jenkel, Burlingame; George E. Smith, San Bruno; Adolph J. Sani, South San Francisco; Joseph L. Sarto, Daly City and Dante Dianda, El Granada.

Judge Cotton made no reference to the recommendations of the 1944-45 grand jury which advised succeeding jurors to "keep an alert eye" on the San Mateo County Department of Public Health and Welfare and other welfare agencies.

War Loan Drive On Till July 7

Extension of the Seventh War Loan drive until July 7 was announced simultaneously with the report that Redwood City's E bond sales have leaped to within $40,020.42 of reaching the city's $555,320 quota.

Chmn. Walter T. Kellogg, Jr., said that the prospect of going "over the top" in E bond sales looked hopeful. Optimism dominated the war chairman's daily report as he revealed that $30,945 in small bonds were sold over the weekend.

"With the enthusiastic showing in the past week," Kellogg said, "Redwood should be proud of its total purchases, providing they keep up these last five days."

Millbrae Cafe Owner, Helper Arrested on Liquor Charges

Ten days after four minors, two girls, 14 years of age, and two sailors, crashed into a pole in Millbrae, receiving cuts and bruises after they had been drinking from 8:30 to 12 p.m. in a Millbrae bar, the State Board of Equalization filed charges against the owner and waitress of the Three Star Cafe where the drinking occurred.

The cafe served four highballs apiece to two Tanforan sailors, aged 18 and 20, after asking for their identification which showed they were under age, the youths reported. The two girls accompanying the sailors were 14 years of age and were not asked for identification of any kind, they declared.

After leaving the cafe, the couples' car crashed in Millbrae. The girls were taken to the Community Hospital and sailors turned over to the Tanforan authorities.

The equalization board agent, E. J. Miller, of Burlingame, filed a criminal complaint against William K. Brown, owner, and Helen Slinker, waitress at the Three Star Cafe, Monday, 10 days after the violation occurred.

The criminal complaint charged the selling of liquor to minors and was signed by Judge R. A. Rapsey of South San Francisco. The hearing will be next Monday, July 9, at 10 a.m. The pair have been released on bail of $500.

The two Lindenville girls, one a ward of the Santa Clara County Courts, are being held by juvenile authorities, the other will be returned to Missouri or sent to the Convent of the Good Shepherd.

Almost 17,000 fewer persons were killed in traffic accidents in 1943 than in 1941.

Fire Chief Blasts System

BY JUNE ANDERSON

Heated charges that the Redwood City water supply is insufficient to fight serious fires were hurled Monday by Fire Chief Mark E. Ryan in the closing minutes of a four- and a half-hour council session following inquiry by Mayor W. W. Hilton into the Tribune editorial on water supply in Monday's edition.

"The present water system is in a deplorable condition and in case of serious fire, there would not be enough water to extinguish it," Ryan flashed.

Mayor Hilton lead up to the water inquiry when he reported that 24 lights on Broadway were unlit because they were burned out Sunday night and "I want to know why," he said.

Ryan, as head of the city electrical department, was called upon for an explanation.

He reported the lack of manpower in the fire department and bluntly stated that "there were only two men in the fire station during the day with three rigs when the other two men had to be out burning off the grass lots around the edge of town so that Redwood City wouldn't burn up."

"There isn't anything you can't do if you once begin," Ryan charged, referring to the request for two more firemen in the 1945-46 budget.

"I saw something pretty disturbing in the Tribune (the water editorial) and I'm also disturbed about these charges against the electrical department. If we had enough men and the city were willing to pay them for such work, those lights would never be brought to someone else's attention," Ryan flared.

"This water shortage has been talked about for seven or eight years and nothing has ever been done about it," Ryan stated.

At this point, City Mgr. Robert W. Mead interrupted by saying that the city was preparing a detailed plan for more water mains.

"Let's hold this discussion off until the map is submitted to the council," Mead said. A Tribune reporter came to my office (June 20) and I called Chief Ryan in at that time to substantiate my statement about the water situation."

"At that time, I said that the situation was not serious and I made a statement about the fire department being able to build up pressure and you agreed to my statement," Mead said, looking at Ryan.

"I've learned that in the presence of the press or anyone else it is not proper to correct the city manager," Ryan flashed back. "I've been saying 'yes' around here for a long time."

"You should voice your opinion when I ask for it," Mead stated.

"It's not wise to argue with you—you're pretty set on your own ideas anyway," Ryan charged.

Councilman Floyd D. Granger interceded at this point to say that the Board of Fire Underwriters report on the fire hazard conditions due to the water supply in 1940 had been known about for a long time.

"Didn't this report go to the city engineer?" Granger asked.

"I just saw it a couple of months ago," Mead answered. "It was then submitted to the city engineer to help in formulating the overall plan for additional water mains which will be submitted to the council."

Lisle Winter, street superintendent, rose to his feet and offered a suggestion to help the fire department in case of emergency.

"If there is a fire reported in the hot weather when most residents are using sprinklers and more water otherwise, let the fire station use a blast such as the alarm sounded when there was a reported air raid," Winters suggested.

"When the signal sounds, all Redwood City residents would know what it meant and immediately turn off all water faucets," Winters said.

"That wouldn't work," Ryan charged, "in the first two minutes of a fire you need the most water and people couldn't turn off their outlets that quickly."

Ryan stated bluntly that if the building continues in Redwood City as it has in the past few months, the water shortage instead of being a particular fire hazard during the hot season would become a continual condition.

Winter then interjected his report of the survey made about the Sequoia and Redwood Theaters during the hot week the middle of June. He said that it was the Redwood Theater and not the Sequoia Theater which had water shortage, as had been reported.

"The plumbing at the Redwood Theater was inadequate at this time and caused lack of drinking water," Winter said.

"When 'Mickey' Collins (Police Chief C. L. Collins) had a fire at his home (250 Edgewood Dr.) several months ago, there wasn't enough water in the main to put out the blaze," Ryan charged.

"Mickey nearly put the fire out with dishpans full of water before the fire department could pressure enough water from the main to get it out," Ryan said. "We were pretty embarrassed about the incident at the fire station."

Mayor Hilton then asked "about this business of pressure as reported in the Tribune editorial."

Ryan replied with the smile that "if you've got money in the bank then you can draw it out and if you haven't any water to begin with, you can't build up pressure no matter what effort or equipment you appiy."

"Main St. has only half of the water supply it needs as only one incident of the water shortage," Ryan stated.

At 12:25 a.m., the council adjourned with no action taken on the water situation.

England didn't use the ballot system of voting until 1872.

News of Commuters

By JOE CABOOSE

The Commuters finally won their fight to be seated at the United Nations conference. For proof we refer you to the closing session picture which appeared in the SF Chronicle. There, as big as life, sitting in the front row between President Truman and Governor Warren is the Honorable Richard tum Suden, delegate from the Redwood City Commuters Club. Well, anyhow, it looks like Truman and Warren; and we do know it's Richard in the front row. We have no picture of Dick signing the UNCIO Charter, but presumably he did. Imagine trying to maintain world peace without the co-operation of the Redwood City Commuters Club!

★ ★ ★

Incidentally, how many of you read the 10 closing speeches, including Truman's, at the final conference session? A few sentences soared to astral heights in literary expression. Purely from an artistic point of view (not to be confused with admiration for his country's policy) we liked what Lord Halifax said, better than anyone else including our own President. Halifax was Lincolnesque in spots. With usual British restraint he pointed out that if nothing else was accomplished, the representatives of the world's peace-loving nations met, became acquainted and learned to know and like one another . . . and "to argue with patience and differ with respect." We like that. What a sweet world this would be if all people could "argue with patience and differ with respect!"

A stalwart and courageous people, the British, but we frankly don't understand them. The most pathetic picture we have seen lately was one of Churchill, sweat rolling from his face, as he pleaded before a large group of his countrymen for re-election to office. Churchill, the great inspired leader who virtually single-handed pulled Britain through her darkest hour, whose bulldog stance and pugnacious jaw have become a symbol of courage the world over, now having to campaign among his own people, like the commonest politician, to retain a seat in the government! A government and a people which but for Churchill may have ceased to exist! You would think the Britishers would be so grateful to Churchill that he could have anything he wanted, from the throne down.

Chmn. Paul Allen reports that Commuters wound up their Seventh War Loan campaign with total bond sales of $260,550. Which tops any previous drive for Commuters. A 21-gun salute to Allen and his committee on their quarter-million achievement . . . or would that make too much noise? Pres. Clarence Brizee asks all good and true Commuters to turn out Wednesday at the Fourth of July celebration and lend a hand if needed at the club's soft-drink booth. Bring the wife and kiddies and be prepared to spend the day. A good time is in store for everybody. Incidentally, the first board meeting of Prexy Brizee's administration will be held at his house, 1135 Clinton St., tomorrow night. (Just a friendly tip, don't eat too much supper before you go.)

Thanks to Fred Jaeger, we found a good place to eat in SF. It's Charles Fashion's restaurant out on O'Farrell. They tell us it has been doing business there since 1909, but it was in our book. Speaking of Jaeger, we've known him for years; but never knew for sure whether the name was pronounced Yayger or Jayger. So yesterday we met for the first time his lovely daughter, Florence Jaeger Griffin, and believing she could be neutral since she had changed her name, we asked how Jaeger was pronounced. She said she went through Sequoia as "Jay" ger and through college at "Yay" ger, and is "darn glad" now she has a name—Griffin—that can be pronounced only one way. So we still don't know whether it's Jaeger or Yayger.

We note that a man in Kansas City has patented a motorized tooth brush. Just what the world has been waiting for, no doubt. And now new excuses why Junior didn't clean his teeth. "I can't, Mommy, my tooth brush has developed motor trouble!" . . . A speedy recovery to Sammy Winklebleck, ill with flu. . . . Welcome home to Ed Horgan, after too many weeks in Los Angeles, . . . a 'thank you' to Ned Butler of the C-of-C for the attractive souvenir redwood cigaret container or trinket box which does an appropriate job of advertising the thriving city which takes its name from these majestic trees, and whose climate is you-know-what. . . . also the set of postcard scenes in and around Redwood City. . . . The outside world doesn't have to know that the only two redwood trees in town are in Bill Curran's patio and Walter Harden's rear garden.

Dropped in on Elmer K. (the hydrant) Ross yesterday to check up first hand on some of those amazing tales he has been telling about his precocious grandchild, David Ross Hutchinson, age 4½ months and one tooth. David, we must admit, is a remarkable baby. At his mother's request, he grinned and showed "Uncle Joe" his "toofum." Then winking his right eye, he said: "Pretty, huh?" Later, in conversation with him, he confided that he didn't mind having only one tooth now, with the meat situation what it is. But . . . he hopes when the war restrictions are lifted he can have a full set of uppers and lowers . . . "like gwanpa's!"

Atherton Police Makes Capture—

Determined Leroy Hubbard of the Atherton Police Dept. stalked alone along darkened Park Ln. at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Undaunted by his eluder's size or the thought that he was without immediate assistance Hubbard didn't flinch. The officer's gun was still in its holster.

Hubbard whistled and bellowed, "Here, hohsie!"

The runaway defiantly stomped his hoofs on the pavement and a broken chain which dangled from its halter threw up sparks.

"Come here, you recalcitrant critter!"

Then Hubbard thought of the horse of a different color. This time he coaxed.

His report to Chief John E. Farrell did not disicose the bait, i.e., apple, carrot or sugar lump. But it worked.

Hubbard, horse in hand, took the animal to the Menlo Circus Club and placed it in pasture to await identity of the horse's owner.

Chief Farrell awaited only the latter to make his addition to the reported: "Recaptured, one equine. Well done, Hubbard, well done."

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Paying a surprise visit to Camp Pescadero, summer camp site of the San Mateo County Council, where some 200 boys are enjoying a full program of outdoor activities, Philip N. Lilienthal, president, and Dan Minto, chairman of the council camping committee, declared that they found all San Carlos Sunday marked the chairman, warned consumers officers said.

Also visiting with Lilienthal and Minto was John B. Cockroft Sr., chairman of the council executive committee, and his son, John B. Jr., a former leader at the camp who is home on leave from service with the United States Navy.

As guests at the noon meal at the camp, President Lilienthal and his party received a rousing ovation from the Scouts. Lilienthal spoke briefly to the group complimenting them for their fine spirit and good leadership.

Paying his annual official visit for the purpose of inspecting all facilities in the camp was Dr. C. H. Gans, San Mateo County health inspector. After careful review of all factors affecting the health and safety of the Scouts in attendance, Dr. Gans pronounced the site in excellent condition.

A special order of the day was followed Saturday, as the day was designated as President's Day with the annual meeting of the Knights of Dunamis session all day Saturday.

Featured yesterday was a special dress parade in honor of distinguished visitors and parents who are especially invited to be present.

Bill Donnelly, commander of the local chapter of the Knights of Dunamis, commanded the parade on Saturday evening with members of the honorary Eagle Scout fraternity serving as special officers in charge of the program for the entire day. Representatives of the organization from the entire Peninsula area as well as several formerly active members who are now members of the armed forces were present.

Camp officials reported wholehearted participation in all camp activities. Special instruction is being given in Scoutcraft, swimming and handicraft, with recreation being provided with intertroop athletic contests and campfires featuring camp talent.

The second session of the camp will open on July 8 for one week, with the final session beginning on July 15. Reservations are still being accepted for both sessions it was said. Fee for the one-week periods is $13, with round-trip transportation available at $3 additional. One blue and one red ration stamp is required of each camper, Mr. Barrer said in concluding his comment about the popular camp.

Judge McNutt OKs Flood Building Lease

Judge Maxwell McNutt, who gained fame during the court proceedings of the Flood estate, has authorized a 50-year lease of the Flood Bldg. at Market St. and Powell St. in San Francisco that will result in demolition of the famous landmark.

Judge McNutt last week authorized trustees of the James L. Flood estate to enter into the lease with the F. W. Woolworth Co. commencing Feb. 1, 1951.

S.M. County Pays $7500 To Buy Way Out of Tax Noose

County Controller Fred E. Beer disclosed Monday that San Mateo County has paid $7500 to buy its way out of a tax redemption noose fashioned by E. C. Skidmore of Berkeley, tax expert.

The $7500 has been paid to Skidmore to terminate his 1928 contract with the county by which he has collected more than $27,000, representing 50 per cent of certain delinquencies for the period 1856-1922, Beer announced.

Beer explained that Skidmore had similar contracts with a number of California counties, and that seven of them had taken him to the supreme court in an effort to break the agreement.

"I was conversant with the situation while a member of the board of supervisors," Beer explained. "I went to the board and requested permission to terminate the contract on a cash basis. The board agreed. I negotiated with Skidmore and he has accepted $7500 to end the contract."

Assessor Martin L. Flynn said Touloumne County paid $40,000 for a similar termination agreement with the tax expert.

Beer explained that in 1927 Skidmore appeared before the board of supervisors and offered a proposition whereby it would be able to realize income from tax delinquencies accumulated since organization of the county in 1856 until 1921. Later he induced the board to extend the limit to 1922.

Skidmore's fee was 50 per cent of the income.

Skidmore, Beer said, spent two years in a thorough investigation of the tax rolls.

In some cases it was disclosed that titles to properties had been insured despite delinquencies, and in many cases title companies were forced to pay out large sums of money.

County Tax Collector Ralph MacArthur said the fundamental thing wrong with the Skidmore contract, from the county's viewpoint, was a perpetual interest in the delinquent properties on his list. If the property should go delinquent more than once and be redeemed or sold more than once, half of the proceeds always would go to Skidmore, MacArthur said.

"This was a bad contract from the start for San Mateo County," MacArthur contended.

Beer said that Skidmore admitted that the contract was becoming more valuable to him every year because of increasing property values.

Muscular tension is believed to be one of the major causes of light sleeping.
